Andy Smith Joins Pro2Serve as Vice President

Oak Ridge, Tennessee, March 4, 2009 - Pro2Serve Professional Project Services, Inc. (Pro2Serve) is pleased to announce that Andy Smith has joined the company as Vice President of Business Development. In this role, he will lead Pro2Serve's business development efforts in engineering and environmental services. Mr. Smith brings a broad range of business development, operations and executive leadership experience within the nuclear industry. He most recently served as the President of WESKEM, LLC, an Oak Ridge-based waste management firm.

Mr. Smith served in the U.S. Navy Nuclear Program from 1970 to 1978. After leaving the Navy, he worked at the Department of Energy's Hanford reservation in Washington State from 1978 through 1988 in various safety and management roles. In 1988, he joined EcoTek, Inc., a subsidiary of Nuclear Fuel Services in Erwin, Tennessee, as a Senior Project Manager and in 1990 was appointed Vice President of Operations with that company. In 1994, he joined Scientific Ecology Group (SEG), a division of Westinghouse, in Oak Ridge as Government Sales and Marketing Manager. Mr. Smith co-founded a web-based training company, Virtual Education Corporation, in 1997 which was successfully merged with three other technology-based training companies several years later.
